ST JAMES'S PALACE

LL3395

TUCK'S POST CARD

CARTE POSTALE

(FOR ADDRESS ONLY)

St. James's Palace, with its well-known old red brick entrance. The Gateway looking up St. James's Street is historically interesting and outwardly beautiful. The Palace, which King Henry VIII built on the site of the Lepers' Hospital, commemorates that King and Anne Boleyn by the love-knots on the side doors of the Gateway and the H.A. in the Presence-Chamber. Queen Mary I died here, and it is full of the memories of vanished Kings. Though no longer the Royal residence, the British Court is still known officially as the "Court of St. James's."

LONDON

"OILETTE" Postcard No. 5319.

Raphael Tuck & Sons'

Copyright, London
Printed in England

CT PA 12, 9